

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An electrochemically-activated optical switch is provided, comprising a molecular system configured between a pair of electrodes. The molecular system includes a 5 moiety that is oxidizable or reducible in the presence of an electric current.